Claudius Maximus: Roman Day:

Diamonds and Zircons welcomed Roman soldier Claudius Maximus today. Claudius first organised the children into contuberniums (groups of eight). The morning was then spent learning about the life of a Roman soldier including practising drills, a timeline of significant dates, weaponry and uniform.

After lunch the children marched with their shields to the school field where a battle against Boudicca and her Iceni tribe took place. As predicted, the well-disciplined Roman army won every battle.

A huge thank you to Claudius for making such powerful memories. Thanks also to the PTA who kindly donated towards the cost of this incredible educational event. Some further photos will be in Google Classrooms soon.
